Explanation of Vaisheshikaamshas (Amsha Bala of Planets) (As per Parashara)

If a planet is in it's moolatrikona, or own rasi, or rasi of exaltation in a chart (includes divisional chart), then that planet acquires strength. In each group of divisional charts, we can count the divisional charts in which a planet occupies it's moolatrikona, or own rasi, or rasi of exaltation. Based on the count of such good divisional charts for the planet, we say that the planet is in a particular amsha (the higher the number is, the stronger the planet becomes)

SHAD VARGA (6 Vargas- D1, D2, D3, D9, D12, D30)

The amsha said to be occupied by a planet and the corresponding count of divisional charts - from the above list - in which it occupies it's moolatrikona, own rasi or rasi of exaltation is given as follows

Kimshukaamsha - 2; Vyanjaanamsha - 3; Chaamaraamsha - 4; Chatraamsha - 5; Kundalaamsha - 6
